Hello Jeff, are you able to come to Dormont to watch the videos? Detective Baumgard has the videos and it would be easier for us to have you come to Dormont so we can play them on the big screen in the grand jury room. I should be available Monday afternoon if Detective Baumgard is available. Jon Pittman

Hello,
ADA Jeff Tisak has been assigned the Nathan Stanley case. It is scheduled for trial on 2-7-18. Jeff and I met with Law this afternoon, and he told us that you have extensive video surveillance of the time frame leading up to the defendant's arrest. Jeff will need a copy of the video surveillance and any other materials relevant to the prosecution of Nathan Stanley. I think that it would be beneficial to Jeff if one or both of you could review the videos with him so that he is not starting from scratch.

Thanks very much!

Jon,

Monroeville charged your boy TrippyDoo for all sorts of stuff related to those pictures and their search of his house. I'm assuming you'll handle it so I'm putting it on your case list.

Also, Franklin Park charged Daniel Humphrey (one of the kids from today) with Access Device Fraud and RSP. Did you want that case?

Hello Law,

I'm sorry to bother you again while you are on vacation but I received this E-mail from the Monroeville Police Department regarding the individual who was taking pictures in front of the marked police car holding firearms. At the bond hearing, Judge Manning place the defendant on house arrest and ordered him to surrender all of his firearms to the Monroeville Police. The Monroeville Police are inquiring as to whether we will approve additional charges for the Defendant's actions, specifically Simple Assault by Physical Menace and Harassment. Please advise.

Thank you

Anyway, if you're interested, class is at 6 PM in Rm. 207 Lawrence Hall-- it's right next to the law school. A round or two of beers is on me afterward.

Subject: FYI ASAP subpoenas

Greetings All,

As you all know, Stephanie has been diligently completing ALL subpoena requests and has been doing an awesome job. She will be out of the office 12/26 – 1/3. I'm sure many of you will be out also. However, if you have any ASAP sub requests (any late Dec/early Jan) please bring them down or email her in the very near future so that the requests can be completed in a timely manner. Sarah Outly will be holding down the fort in Stephanie's absence for any unforeseen circumstance(s).

Thanks in advance for your attention to this matter,

Subject: Year-End Tax Tips to Maximize Your Refund

Year-End Tax Tips

We've put together six tax tips you can implement this year to maximize your 2017 tax refund. The IRS will start processing tax returns in January, but you can get a jump start on your taxes now.

Itemized Deductions

Making donations and prepaying taxes could increase your deductions and lower your taxable income this year.

Read More

Lower Your Income

If tax laws change, you may want to defer your 2017 income to 2018 when your tax rate may be lower.

Read More

American Opportunity Credit

Make sure you've paid $4,000 in tuition to take full advantage of this credit. If you haven't, pay your 2018 tuition now.

Read More

Spend Your Flex Plan

If you can't carry over benefits to next year, make sure you use them before the end of the year.

Read More

Adjust Your Withholding

Get your withholding amount just right so you don't owe taxes and you keep more of your money during the year.

Subject: Case law update: Com v. $34,440.00

Com v. $34,440.00 U.S. Currency - Innocent owner defense not sole means to rebut nexus

Commonwealth v. $34,440.00 U.S. Currency, ___ A.3d ___ (Pa., 12/19/17) (Monroe)

In a 5-2 decision, PA Supreme Court held in a forfeiture case that the innocent owner defense does not provide the sole basis to rebut the presumption of 42 Pa. C.S. § 6801(a)(6)(ii) (REPEALED) that money found in close proximity to controlled substances is presumed to be the proceeds from the sale of a controlled substance. The currency at issue was recovered by PSP during a consent search from a concealed location in the passenger compartment of a vehicle during a vehicle stop. Ecstasy pills in the cigarette outlet and a small amount of marijuana near the rear door were also found. The vehicle was owned by the driver's sister. Driver and the three passengers denied knowledge of the cash. Driver admitted ownership of the ecstasy and marijuana for personal use. Driver was charged with simple possession (ecstasy), possession of a small amount of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia. Driver pled guilty to possession of marijuana (unclear if plea was for simple possession or possession of small amount).

Commonwealth petitioned to forfeit the cash via § 6801(a)(6)(i) of the Forfeiture Act (proceeds from an exchange of controlled substances). Appellant Falette (stood in the place of the cash), who was not present in the vehicle, claimed lawful ownership of the cash. The trial court found for the Commonwealth following a hearing. The court found the Commonwealth had sufficiently established a nexus between the cash and a violation of the Controlled Substances Act based upon the proximity of the cash to a controlled substance in accordance with § 6801(a)(6)(ii). The court found that Appellant failed to successfully demonstrate the innocent owner defense necessary to rebut the presumption of § 6801(a)(6)(ii).

Commonwealth Court affirmed 3-2, finding that the Commonwealth established the rebuttable presumption and Appellant failed to rebut it through the innocent owner defense. In dissent, two judges opined that the presumption could be rebutted by evidence that the cash was not the proceeds of a drug exchange, independent of the innocent owner defense.

The Supreme Court granted discretionary review to examine the presumption and how it may be rebutted. The Court concluded that the Commonwealth may establish a substantial nexus (the rebuttable presumption) for forfeiture based on the proximity of cash to controlled substances. The Court also determined that the plain language of § 6801(a)(6)(ii) confers an opportunity to rebut that the seized money was derived from drug sales, independent of proving the innocent owner defense. Trial courts may decide as to whether the presumption has been rebutted based upon the entirety of the record.

Remanded to trial court to consider whether the current record rebuts the presumption, so as to require the Commonwealth to put on additional evidence of nexus.

Justice Baer authored the majority opinion. Chief Justice Saylor, joined by Justice Mundy authored a dissenting opinion opining against the independent basis to rebut. Justice Mundy authored a dissenting opinion opining that the trial court opinion should be affirmed.

Subject: Grand Jury Secrecy Oath

We have scheduled the administration of the secrecy oath for the new grand jury for Friday, January 5, 2018 at 8:45 am, in Judge Rangos' courtroom. Please make every effort to be there so that we do not have to re-schedule too many people. If you are not able to attend this date, please let me or Diana know and we will make other arrangements for you to be sworn. Also, if there is someone that I missed in this email, please let me know so we can add them to our list.

As a reminder, the fact that you are sworn does not mean that you can or should have access to every matter appearing before the grand jury. Additionally, you should not be discussing your grand jury cases with people not involved with your case – even if those people are sworn - unless absolutely necessary.

Have a nice holiday and see you in the New Year.

Subject: Cases?

Jon,

Monroeville charged your boy TrippyDoo for all sorts of stuff related to those pictures and their search of his house. I'm assuming you'll handle it so I'm putting it on your case list.

Also, Franklin Park charged Daniel Humphrey (one of the kids from today) with Access Device Fraud and RSP. Did you want that case?
